 2. This Constitution shall not be reviewed unless after five years as deemed necessary and relevant.

FIRST SCHEDULE (SCHEDULE I)

STANDING ORDERS

BEGINNING A MEETING

1. A meeting starts with the Chairman calling the House to order for proceeding. Members shall be reminded of the standing orders governing the conduct of meeting.
2. The agenda for the meeting is presented.
3. The agenda shall be accepted or rejected by the House after amendments where necessary.
4. A motion must be moved and seconded to accept or reject the agenda.

MOTION

A motion shall be in a written form as below.

Title: Motion

“I move that the house”

Mover:.....

Signature:

Secunder:

Signature:

Date: Time:

TYPES OF MOTION

(A) ORDINARY MOTION (SUBSTANCE MOTION)

1. A motion can be moved on an issue under discussion.
2. A motion shall be seconded by at least one person.
3. If the mover does not get a seconder, he shall be allowed two (2) minutes to convince members of the House to get a seconder.
4. A motion that is not seconded shall be rejected.

5. If a motion is moved, the Speaker shall leave any other discussion and attend to the motion.
6. The motion shall be debated on the order of:
 - (a) The mover of the motion
 - (b) The seconder for the motion
 - (c) The mover against the motion
 - (d) The seconder against the motion
 - (e) A right of reply by the mover of the motion.
7. After debate on a motion, it shall be put to vote.

(B) COUNTER MOTION

1. A counter motion is one that rejects the substance or relevance of a substance motion.
2. A counter motion shall need the same requirement as in an ordinary motion.
3. A counter motion shall be allowed only if there is no vote on the substance motion.
4. The Speaker shall suspend debate on the substance motion and attend to the counter motion.
5. If the counter motion is carried, then automatically, the substance motion is defeated.
6. However, if a counter motion is defeated, the substantive motion shall be voted on. Two (2) people shall be required to comment on the substance motion before the vote. (i.e. one for or one against).

(C) PROCEDURAL MOTION

1. This motion questions the procedure by which a substantive motion is moved. It may seek to clarify a substance motion by inserting or removing a word or statement.
2. A procedural motion does not cancel a substantive motion unlike a counter motion. Instead it defers the substantive motion.
3. A procedural motion shall follow the basic requirement of an ordinary motion.
4. If a procedural motion is carried, the substantive motion shall be deferred until the requirements of the procedural motion is fulfilled or satisfied.
5. If defeated, the substantive motion continues in order of the debate and voted on.
6. If the procedural motion is carried and substantive motion is deferred, the requirements of the procedural motion satisfied, another procedural motion is required to bring the substantive motion back to the floor of the house.

7. A procedural motion shall be moved as follows:

- (a) “I move that the motion be now put” (i.e. to defer a substantive motion)
- (b) “I move that the motion be now put” (i.e. to bring the substantive motion back to the floor).

PROCEDURES TO NOTE

- 1. When a motion is carried it becomes a resolution and can be turned into a law or policy.
- 2. When a motion is carried or defeated, submission may be allowed but not a debate. These are suggestion of ways to facilitate the execution of a resolution, expression of frustration for the defeat of the motion etc.
- 3. When a motion is carried or defeated, the mover shall have the right of reply if he wills. That opportunity is not transferable.

ORDER OF A MEETING

These regulations in the form of interventions and/or interruption shall be adopted for the smooth conduct of meetings. They are strong according to the order written and arranged.

POINT OF ORDER

This comes when a person contributing to a debate or any discussion on the floor is out of order. A speaker is out order if:

- 1. He talks on a topic not related to the topic under discussion.
- 2. He is drawing the House back to what has been agreed on which is likely to delay proceedings.
- 3. He is not doing what the Chairperson asks him to do.
- 4. He uses unparliamentary language.

CONVENTIONS

- 1. The Speaker shall hear point of order at all times.
- 2. A person alleged to be out of order shall take his seat until ruling is done on the order.
- 3. The Speaker shall accept a point of order (point of order upheld) or reject it (point of order over-ruled). He shall give reasons although not obliged.

4. If a point of order is over-ruled, the person alleged to be out of order shall continue his speech.
5. If a point of order is upheld, the person out of order shall not be allowed to continue his speech.
6. No point of order can be raised against the Speaker.
7. No point of order can be raised against another point of order.
8. The Speaker's attention shall be drawn to a point of order with "a closed fist in a raised palm".

POINT OF CORRECTION

1. This is to make a correction to a mistake made in the process of a debate or discussion.
2. The Speaker's attention shall be drawn to a point of correction with "two (2) fingers in a raised palm".

POINT OF INFORMATION

1. This is to seek information or clarification, or supply information relevant to the debate or discussion on the floor.
2. The Speaker's attention shall be drawn with "a finger in a raised palm".

POWERS OF THE SPEAKER

1. The Speaker who chairs the meeting of the House shall be vested with the following powers:
 - (a) Consideration of motions
 - (b) f. Control of the meeting
 - (c) Decide who speaks
 - (d) Walk out any member who shows gross disrespect to the Chair or any other member of the House and refuses to comply with directions to remedy the situation. Such a person however may be called back into the meeting provided he makes a written request to comply with the terms of the directives.
2. The Speaker shall remain as impartial as possible and demonstrate fairness to all members of the House.

SRC CONSTITUTION, UDS

3. The Speaker shall not be entitled to vote in a meeting. He may however use the casting vote to break a tie.
